TRAINING PLAN

10K Running

RUNNING	INTERMEDIATE	12 WEEKS

Welcome

As an athlete and a parent I know how challenging it can be to train effectively for events like triathlons, marathons or cycling events. I have over 20 years of experience helping amateur athletes surpass their goals, while still making sure they have quality time available for family, friends and career.

To help you train effectively, I have decided to offer a subset of our extremely popular plans for free. Usually, our plans include email coach access, personal intensity zones and advanced tracking software. But these plans provide the basics for free to give you a taste.

It would mean the world to me if you tried a 1-month free trial of Unlimited Athlete, my low-cost coaching program, but for now, feel free to get used to my style of training. Please use and share this plan as much as you like.

FAQS

Who is the plan suitable for?

This short training plan is suitable for Intermediate runners, who want to maximize potential at 10K.

With just 12 weeks to go until event-day, this plan assumes you are currently able to run/jog for up to 35mins. The plan builds up to race day, and helps improve your fitness and confidence.

People who follow a training plan have been shown to be twice as likely to succeed in reaching their goal.

How much training is involved?

Average weekly training hours are 3:35 with the biggest week at 4:20 hours. This includes 4 to 5 runs and a 45 minute strength and conditioning session.

There is usually 1 workout per day, with 1 or 2 days off each week. Every fourth week is an active recovery week, with less training, to help your body recover and adapt.

How to get started

Do your best to follow the workouts below, ideally in their given order.

To help you train at the right levels, we use five training zones, based on feel or heart rate.

If you use heart rate, we have a calculator that can create your training zones:

www.myprocoach.net/hr-zones

TRAINING ZONES

	Intensity Description	% of Your Max Heart Rate
Z1	Easy (Recovery)	♥ 68-73%
Z2	Steady (Endurance)	♥ 73-80%
Z3	Moderately Hard (Tempo)	♥ 80-87%
Z4	Hard (Threshold)	♥ 87-93%
Z5	Very Hard (VO2 Max)	♥ 93-100%

	Warm Up: 10 mins in Z2, 4 x (30 secs accelerating from Z2 to Z4 + 30 sec recoveries in Z2). Main Set: 2 x (6 mins in low Z4 + 2 min recovery in Z1). Warm Down: 5 mins in Z2. The intensity of these runs is at, or near to your 1-hour race effort.	Allows for recovery whilst promoting adaptation to previous training stresses. Helps you get faster and keep injuries at bay.	All in Z2. These runs are to be done slowly. They will gradually build your endurance and increase your efficiency. If you do them faster, you'll increase your injury risk for no real benefit.	Warm Up: 5 mins in Z2, 3 x (30 secs accelerating from Z2 to Z4 + 30 sec recoveries in Z1). Week 2

Base Phase 1: 3 hrs 25 mins

Phil's tip

Consistency is the golden ticket. Think of each completed workout as another jelly bean in the jar. When the jar is full, you're in peak race shape.

Week 4

Active Recovery Week: 3 hrs 03 mins

Phil's tip

In my training plans, every 4th week is an active recovery week. This gives your body a chance to recover and adapt.

	It's vital to make the most of this recovery week. You need to fully recover and start the next training phase feeling fresh and eager to train hard. There is enough training during the recovery week so that you won't lose fitness.	Warm Up: 10 mins in Z2. 4 x (30 secs accelerating from Z2 to Z4 + 30 sec recoveries in Z1). Main Set: 8 mins in low Z4. Warm Down: 5 mins in Z2.	All easy/steady in Z2.	Please refer to the guide in Phil's Tips in Week 1.	Warm Up: 5 mins in Z2, 4 x (30 secs accelerating from Z2 to Z4 + 30 sec recoveries in Z1). Main Set: 4 x (2 mins in Z5 + 60 secs in Z1). Warm Down: 5 mins in Z2.	All in low to mid Z2. Perfect Plan!

Fantastic training plan from MyProCoach to lead to my first full-distance IRONMAN finish at Arizona in 2022. During the plan, I improved in all three disciplines and PR'd an IRONMAN 70.3 tuneup race by 11 min.

I'm an Unlimited Athlete and love having coach access & a premium membership with TrainingPeaks.

It really works- trust the plan!

I exceeded my goal of not only finishing but well under my ideal goal. I 100% attribute this to Phil Mosley's 20-week 70.3 plan. I stuck to the plan and I'm beyond ecstatic to say I completed the IRONMAN 70.3 Puerto Rico!

The training truly changed my life and changed the way I think about things I'm able to do now.

I'm forever grateful.

Love my Unlimited Athlete plan!

I've trained for two years with my Unlimited plan. The best part is that I can request my training plan at any moment!

I did IRONMAN Florida 70.3 last weekend, I'm feeling great and really happy with my result.

I totally recommend MyProCoach!
