TRAINING PLAN

Half Marathon Running

RUNNING	ADVANCED	12 WEEKS

Welcome

As an athlete and a parent I know how challenging it can be to train effectively for events like triathlons, marathons or cycling events. I have over 20 years of experience helping amateur athletes surpass their goals, while still making sure they have quality time available for family, friends and career.

To help you train effectively, I have decided to offer a subset of our extremely popular plans for free. Usually, our plans include email coach access, personal intensity zones and advanced tracking software. But these plans provide the basics for free to give you a taste.

It would mean the world to me if you signed up to a 1-month free trial of Unlimited Athlete, my low-cost coaching program, but for now, feel free to get used to my style of training. Please use and share this plan as much as you like.

FAQS

Who is the plan suitable for?

This short training plan is suitable for Advanced amateur runners, aiming to achieve peak Half Marathon fitness.

With just 12 weeks to go until event-day, this plan assumes you are currently able to run for up to 1hr 30mins. The plan builds up to race day, and helps improve your fitness and confidence.

People who follow a training plan have been shown to be twice as likely to succeed in reaching their goal.

How much training is involved?

Average weekly training hours are 6:09 with the biggest week at 7:29 hours. This includes 6 runs and a 45 minute strength and conditioning session.

There is usually 1 workout per day, with 1 day off each week. Every fourth week is an active recovery week, with less training, to help your body recover and adapt.

How to get started

Do your best to follow the workouts below, ideally in their given order.

To help you train at the right levels, we use five training zones, based on feel or heart rate.

If you use heart rate, we have a calculator that can create your training zones:

www.myprocoach.net/hr-zones

TRAINING ZONES

	Intensity Description	% of Your Max Heart Rate
Z1	Easy (Recovery)	♥ 68-73%
Z2	Steady (Endurance)	♥ 73-80%
Z3	Moderately Hard (Tempo)	♥ 80-87%
Z4	Hard (Threshold)	♥ 87-93%
Z5	Very Hard (VO2 Max)	♥ 93-100%

	Main Set: 5 mins in low Z2, 10 mins in upper Z2, 5 mins in low Z3, 10 mins in upper Z3, 5 mins in low Z4, 5 mins in mid Z4. Warm Down: 10 mins in low Z2. This tough workout will improve your running stamina and teach the body and mind to stay strong throughout your race.	Allows for recovery whilst promoting adaptation to previous training stresses. Helps you get faster and keep injuries at bay.	All in low to mid Z2. These runs are to be done slowly. They will gradually build your endurance and increase your efficiency. If you do them faster, you'll increase your injury risk for no real benefit.	All in low to mid Z2. An easy run that can be done as a warm up to the Strength & Conditioning session that's planned for today.	Warm Up: 12 mins in Z2, 4 x (30 secs accelerating from Z2 to Z4 + 30 sec recoveries in Z1). Main Set: 4 x (9 mins all in upper Z3 + 2 min recoveries in Z1). Warm Down: 5 mins in low Z2. This run is designed to simulate race day, including efforts at race pace with short recoveries.	All in low to mid Z2. This run should feel easy and you should be able to hold a conversation. These runs gradually build your endurance and increase your efficiency.	All in low to mid Z2. This is your long run and will gradually increase in duration.

Week 2

Build Phase 1: 7 hrs 07 mins

Phil's tip

Consistency is the golden ticket. Think of each completed workout as another jelly bean in the jar. When the jar is full, you're in peak race shape.

Week 3

Build Phase 1: 7 hrs 29 mins

Phil's tip

When you're exercising for longer than about 70-80 minutes you need to consume carbohydrate during your workouts to stop your energy levels from dropping.

Week 4

Active Recovery Week: 4 hrs 25 mins

Phil's tip

In my training plans, every 4th week is an active recovery week. This gives your body a chance to recover and adapt.

	MON	TUE	WED	THU	FRI	SAT	SUN
SESSION 1		45 mins	46 mins	45 mins	39 mins	45 mins	45 mins
	Recovery Day	Aerobic Endurance	Tempo Run	Strength and Conditioning	Speed Run	Aerobic Endurance	Aerobic Endurance
		Steady/Endurance	Hard/Threshold	Endurance Phase	V. Hard/VO2 Max	Steady/Endurance	Steady/Endurance
	It's vital to make the most of these recovery weeks, as this training plan will get tougher and tougher as it goes on. You need to fully recover and start each new training phase feeling fresh and eager to train hard. There is enough training during the recovery weeks so that you won't lose fitness.	All in low to mid Z2.	Warm Up: 15 mins in Z2, 4 x (30 secs accelerating from Z2 to Z4 + 30 sec recoveries in Z1). Main Set: 2 x (10 mins in low Z4 + 2 min recovery in Z1). Warm Down: 5 mins in Z2.	Please refer to the guide in Phil's Tips in Week 1.	Warm Up: 15 mins in Z2, 4 x (30 secs accelerating from Z2 to Z4 + 30 sec recoveries in Z1). Main Set: 5 x (2 mins in Z5 + 60 secs in Z1). Warm Down: 5 mins in Z2.	All in low to mid Z2.	Easy or steady run all in low to mid Z2.

		Warm Up: 15 mins in Z2, 5 x (30 secs accelerating from Z2 to Z5 + 30 secs recoveries in Z1). Main Set: Two sets of: (9 x 45 secs in Z5, with 20 sec recoveries in Z1) + 4 mins recovery in Z1 after the first set. Warm Down: 10 mins in low Z2.	All in low to mid Z2.	All in low to mid Z2.	All in low to mid Z2. Ideally on a hilly route.	All in low to mid Z2.	With Race Pace Finish: Easy or steady run all in low to mid Z2. Finish the last 15 minutes at upper Z3. This run will help you stay strong when the race feels the toughest. Doing this at the end of your long run in training will give you confidence to push for the finish on race day.

Perfect Plan!

Fantastic training plan from MyProCoach to lead to my first full-distance IRONMAN finish at Arizona in 2022. During the plan, I improved in all three disciplines and PR'd an IRONMAN 70.3 tuneup race by 11 min.

I'm an Unlimited Athlete and love having coach access & a premium membership with TrainingPeaks.

It really works- trust the plan!

I exceeded my goal of not only finishing but well under my ideal goal. I 100% attribute this to Phil Mosley's 20-week 70.3 plan. I stuck to the plan and I'm beyond ecstatic to say I completed the IRONMAN 70.3 Puerto Rico!

The training truly changed my life and changed the way I think about things I'm able to do now.

I'm forever grateful.

Love my Unlimited Athlete plan!

I've trained for two years with my Unlimited plan. The best part is that I can request my training plan at any moment!

I did IRONMAN Florida 70.3 last weekend, I'm feeling great and really happy with my result.

I totally recommend MyProCoach!
